ARE RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS TAXABLE

Issue 1 Vol.1 FY 2024-25

What is religion?

Religion is a set of deeply held beliefs, values, and practices that relate individuals or communities to the sacred, divine, or transcendent. Religion is a range of social-cultural systems that relate humanity to the supernatural, including designated behaviors and practices, morals, beliefs, worldviews, texts, sanctified places, prophecies, ethics, or organizations.

Some of the key components of religion include a belief system (teachings, and creeds), rituals and practices (worship, prayer, sacraments, and ceremonies), belief system (doctrines), community (shared identity, membership, and social bonds), morality and ethics and sacred texts and symbols (scriptures, icons, and artifacts).

A religious institution is an organization or entity that promotes, practices, and preserves a particular religion or faith tradition. According to UNESCO, religious institutions include churches, temples, mosques, and other places of worship and institutions that exist to support and manage the practice of a specific set of religious beliefs.

Is there a body that governs religious groups?

Yes. The Inter-Religious Council of Uganda, an affiliate of the World Council of Religions for Peace (WCRP) and the African Council of Religious Leaders (ACRL) was established in 2001 to bring together different religious denominations to address issues of common interest. In Uganda, its membership is comprised of Muslims, Orthodox, Catholic, Anglican and Seventh-day Adventists.

Are religious institutions taxed?

According to the Income Tax Act, religious organizations such as churches, synagogues, and mosques are exempted from paying income tax since their object is not for profit. This exemption is however limited to direct earnings such as offertories, tithes, and fundraising collections among others.

If such an institution is operating a business that generates income and deals in taxable supplies or is engaged in import and export, such a business is taxable. Under such circumstances, such businesses are required to register for taxes, file returns, and pay any outstanding taxes attributed to this income.

For an institution to be exempt:

What taxes are Applicable to religious sector?

Income tax

Any religious institution dealing in income generating activities is required to register for income tax (IT). IT is tax imposed on a person's chargeable income at specific rates and is charged for each year of income.

Resident religious institutions are taxed on worldwide income, while non-residents are taxed only on income derived from sources in Uganda. It may be categorized into:

- Individual Income Tax: This is imposed on all individuals engaging in income-generating activities/businesses for example, a religious leader who operates a business will be charged tax on that business.
- Corporation Tax: This is imposed on all corporate entities (companies) engaging in income-generating activities/businesses. If a religious institution owns a radio, incorporated as a company, they are expected to pay 30% of the chargeable income (profits) as corporation tax.
- Withholding Tax (WHT): This is tax withheld at source by a designated withholding agent. This tax is collected in advance and as such the taxpayer needs to declare it in the tax return such that it reduces the tax liability of the period it relates to. The rates are either 6%, 10%, or 15% depending on the type, for example for a supply of goods, exceeding an aggregate of shs. 1,000,000 to a designated withholding agent such an agent is required to withhold 6% of the gross amount. A person paying a commission to an insurance agent or advertising agent shall withhold tax at a rate of 10% before paying the commission. Similarly, a resident company that pays a dividend to a resident shareholder is required to withhold tax at 15% of the gross amount of the dividend paid, except where the dividend income is exempt from tax in the hands of the shareholder.

- Rental Tax: This is imposed on the total amount of rental income derived by a person for the year of income from the lease of immovable property (land and/or buildings) in Uganda. At the moment rental tax is charged at a rate of 12% for individuals and 30% for companies. If a church owns land or building that it lets out, such income is subject to tax.
- Pay As You Earn (PAYE): This is withheld by the employer (religious institution) if the entity has employees, and paid a monthly remuneration in excess of shs. 235,000. Such an institution is required to withhold the tax monthly and remit it to URA. Each employee is required to obtain a TIN, and the employer must register for Pay As You Earn (PAYE), file a return, and pay by the 15th day of the following month.
- Presumptive tax: This tax targets small business taxpayers who earn income not exceeding shs 150 million a year. For income tax purposes, a small business taxpayer is a resident taxpayer (individual or non-individual) whose gross turnover from all businesses owned by such a person in a year is more than Ten million shillings but does not exceed one hundred fifty million shillings. The term TURNOVER refers to one's total sales in a year. However, persons engaged in medical practice, architectural service, accounting and audit practices, legal practice, dental practice, engineering service, public entertainment services, public utility service, construction service, and any other professional services are excluded from presumptive tax. The concept of small businesses in taxation was developed to accommodate low-income taxpayers who would ordinarily find it difficult to prepare formal accounts. Religious institutions owning small businesses are taxed basing on the following rates.

Schedule for the computation of “presumptive” income tax for small businesses

Gross turnover per annum	With records	Without records

Value Added Tax (VAT)

This is an indirect tax on consumption charged on value added to “taxable” goods and services, at different stages in the production and distribution of goods and services. In Uganda, VAT is imposed on the supply of goods and services (taxable supplies) made by a taxable person, other than exempt supplies; and imports other than exempt imports and is charged at a rate of 18% or 0%. VAT is applied on three categories namely:

- Taxable supply of goods or services made by a taxable person within Uganda. The person liable to tax is the taxable person making the supply.

- Import of goods other than those classified by the VAT Act as exempt. The person liable to tax is the person making the importation.
- Imported services. The person liable is the receiver of the imported service.

Religious institutions with entities that deal in vatiable supplies and can make total sales amounting to Shs.150 million a year or Shs. 37.5 million quarterly (any three consecutive calendar months) are required to apply for VAT. In addition, they should register for the Electronic Fiscal Receipting and Invoicing Solution (EFRIS).

Import taxes

If the entity is importing goods or services, for example, motor vehicles, it is required to register for such taxes and will where applicable pay import taxes (import duty, VAT, Withholding tax, Environmental levy, and infrastructure level).
